BOWLING NOTES.

That bowling has become a very popular recreation here is clearly shown by the way the alleys are patronized at the bowling hall on Chapel street.

Since the opening of the hall last June two more alleys and shuffle boards have been placed, making eight alleys and four shuffle boards, one board being placed in the gallery for ladies. Two of the alleys are partitioned off so as to make them private for ladies bowling parties. The private alleys are to be reserved on Saturday evenings for the stockholders of the company, which will insure the stockholders a chance to bowl which they have not had when they chanced to come in late.

Yet with the eight alleys the public cannot be accommodated and at the last meeting of the directors it was voted to order at once two more alleys. The new alleys will be for the use of the stockholders, while the others, with the exception of the private alleys, will be open to the public.

Mr. John C. Punderford, the well known real estate dealer, was recently elected a director in place of Mr. Frank A. Corbin, who resigned on account of ill health. Mr. Punderford is also an enthusiastic bowler and may be seen in the hall nearly every night, as may also many prominent business men who had not bowled a game in a number of years until this enterprise opened up.

Ladies have also taken an interest in bowling. Dr. Isaac Lyon of Orange street has engaged the private alleys once a week for a party of ladies and gentlemen, as has also Mr. E. M. Somers. Judge S. A. York, Mrs. York, the Misses York, Mrs. Benjamin R. English, Mr. and Mrs. John Henry, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. William T. Fields will also be among the bowlers this winter.

The City Bowling league, which is composed of eight clubs, have arranged it so that the first match game will take place next Thursday between the Samoset and Semaphores, the game to be called at 8 o'clock. Each club of the league will bowl three series of games with each club, making eighty-four games which are to come off this winter. There will be a prize for the team making the highest average and also an individual prize for the person having the highest average. Three games a week are to be bowled, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

The highest score made this month was made Saturday night by E. A. Kirschner, who made 239. A prize ball is offered this month by the company, which those making over 200 may compete for.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bowling and Tennis company will be held this evening at the office of the Security Insurance company on Center street at 8 o'clock.

Com. Inlets From Germany. Berlin, Oct. 6.—German trade journals are complaining of the practice of the customs officials in New York of arbitrarily altering the prices of mohair yarns imported into the United States from Germany to a higher figure than is represented on the invoice, and then levying a higher duty. The papers cite many instances of the practice and declare that it has led to serious disturbances of the relations between buyer and seller.

The country abounds in game, deer, bear, squirrels, rabbits, wild turkeys, pheasants, and the mountains will be preserved and restocked with trout, this part of the work being in charge of Rev. H. H. Kelsey of the Fourth church, Hartford, who is an enthusiastic sportsman.

The soil is rich and well adapted for agricultural purposes and fruit raising, and the timber is simply wonderful in variety of trees, number and size.

The people are an intelligent, hearty, and energetic race, and are loyal to the Union in the late war and cordially welcome northerners among them. On the committee and among those who have already taken lots are a number of southerners, as it is a part of the purpose by means of Christian conventions for Bible study and the like, to bring northern and southern sections together and into better acquaintance.

Most of them have been disposed of and it is proposed to push the enterprise forward at once, and as soon as five hundred lots are disposed of (no one person being allowed to obtain more than five lots) to make a beginning, and lay the foundations of what it is believed will be a center of large multifarious activity for both people of the adjacent country and those who resort to it for rest or health.

AMONG THE MOUNTAINS

A NEW PHILANTHROPIC ENTERPRISE INAUGURATED.

Establishment of a Religious Colony in the Mountains of North Carolina—A Delightful Retreat for Christian Workers—Health, Rest and Home Comforts—It is Near the Vanderbilt $4,000,000 Palace.

Rev. John C. Collins of this city is interested with a number of ministers and Christian business men of various denominations in organizing a colony for health and rest and missionary effort among the mountaineers of Western North Carolina. Mr. Collins is the chief promoter and agent of the enterprise. He states that options have been secured on some fifteen thousand acres of land in one of the most beautiful sections of Western North Carolina. Some of the gentlemen associated with him are: Mr. John S. Huyler, New York; Mr. C. N. Crittenton, New York; Rev. David Allen Reed, Springfield, Mass.; Rev. H. H. Kelsey, Hartford, Conn.; Weston B. Gales, Greensboro, N. C.; William Wanamaker, Philadelphia, Penn.; Rev. A. C. Dixon, Brooklyn, N. Y.; C. A. Rowland, Jr., Athens, Ga., and Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins, Jr., Providence, R. I.

The site is about twenty miles in a bee line from Asheville, N. C., and the four million dollar palace and ninety thousand acres of George W. Vanderbilt, and has the same climatic condition. The scenery is, it is believed, more beautiful and the water is better. Also, the altitude of the plateau, about 2,600 feet high, is about four hundred feet above Asheville. Mr. Collins states that the plan of the proposed colony is to have a place among these mountains for temporary or permanent residence chiefly for Christian people, ministers or Christian workers seeking for health or rest, and also for others of good moral character in sympathy with the object. There is to be missionary and educational work undertaken among the mountain whites who are practically a small nation by themselves, but an intelligent class of people who heartily welcome and respond to Christian and educational influences. In the immediate vicinity there are some forty-three mountain peaks higher than Mount Washington. Mount Mitchell, the highest mountain in the state of North Carolina, is only twelve miles distant, and Roan mountain with its hotel, 3,300 feet above the level of the sea, the highest human habitation east of the Rocky mountains, is another conspicuous landmark.

Western North Carolina has long been noted as the Mecca of health seekers. Its pure water, dry air, equable climate, (cooler in summer and warmer in winter than northern latitudes) make it a veritable paradise for those in search of health or rest.

WOODBRIDGE GRANGE FAIR.

Some of the features of the recent Admittable Exhibit.

The fair held by the Woodbridge grange on Wednesday, the 2nd inst., was a pleasant and successful event. The day was perfect, and many city people drove out in the afternoon to breathe the fine air and enjoy the beautiful scenery for which old Woodbridge is noted. The exhibition was originally intended to prove that a good fair could be held without the adjunct of fairs and trotting horses, and while we provisionally proved that such a fair could be made financially successful. There were no horses or cattle shown, as the church grounds were not suitable, but in the line of farm products the exhibition was a creditable one. M. E. Baldwin was the largest exhibitor of apples, showing some forty-three plates. Herbert Tomlinson showed twenty and one-half bushels of fine fruit, and several others showed from five to fifteen varieties. There was also a choice display of pears, peaches and grapes, of which E. A. Hitchcock was a large exhibitor. The exhibit of Charles E. Peck, arranged by his father, Mr. Phineas E. Peck, comprised about sixty varieties of fruit and vegetables and attracted much attention. Other leading exhibitors in the line of fruit, vegetables and grain were William W. Peck, Jacob Belsigel, N. P. Peck, B. C. Newcomb, H. H. Hale, E. W. Beecher, A. L. Sperry, W. M. Beecher, and L. C. Beecher. There was not a poor specimen of fruit or vegetable shown and many of them were models of perfection of their kind. Sidney Dickinson's display of bees, honey and bee appliances was a work of art in its arrangement and received a great deal of praise. While not much effort was made to get out a show of poultry some fine trials were on exhibition. Dickinson Brothers showed some choice bred white and brown Leghorns, Clarence Newton white Leghorn chickens and Pekin and Rouen ducks, Mrs. Mary E. Rice a trio of light Brahmas and I. L. Hale a coop of rabbits. In fancy work and domestic manufacturing department there was an excellent showing.

Miss Lucy Peck exhibited a large number of beautiful specimens, and Mrs. Helen Baldwin, Miss Flora Blatchley, Misses Louise and Annie Perkins, Miss Edith and Elma Augur, Mrs. E. W. Beecher, Mrs. C. W. Judson and several others showed a great variety of beautiful or curious things. The antique department attracted much attention and many rare and interesting things were shown. The paintings shown by Mrs. George Chafford were greatly admired. Mrs. M. E. Rice made a fine display of flowers and plants. The workers in the refreshment department deserve the highest praise. Brother Sperry distinguishing himself as a peanut vendor and "all hot" man. A number of athletic contests, running, jumping, bicycle races, etc., kept the young folks interested, and an admirable display of hand work, was exhibited by H. W. Collingswood, editor of Rural New Yorker, was listened to with marked attention. Brother J. H. Hale, the peach king, and Hon. N. D. Sperry were among the prominent people present. The Bradley-Dann-Carrington company showed a number of machines of interest to the farmers, and to Mr. Bishop of the firm the grange is greatly indebted for acts of generous kindness. Mr. Dwight Russell of Orange granted the grange the use of his line of farming tools and Mrs. Russell made a beautiful exhibition of lace and embroidery.

In the evening the entertainment committee gave a performance to a crowded house. The program consisted of music, recitations, and short pantomimes and dramas and the various numbers were well performed. Among the performers were Mrs. Russell and Miss Clark of Orange, Professor Lubbo of New Haven, "Parson" Isbell of Westville, Arthur Doolittle of Bethany, and Mrs. R. C. Newton, Mrs. Helen Baldwin, Mrs. George Hubbell, Mrs. Frank I. Baldwin, Misses Annie and Louise Perkins, Miss Lucy Peck, Miss Alice Peck, Miss Estella Hubbell, Mr. Frank Peck and Professor Walker of Woodbridge. George Jewell of New Haven was expected to be present, but was prevented by illness. The gross receipts from day and evening was something over $100, of which a balance of some $70 goes into the grange treasury.

Censured by the Press. Berlin, Oct. 6.—The Post has a scathing article on what it calls the "philosophical press" of Germany and America, dealing with the case of Louis Stern of New York, who is under sentence of the law and imprisonment in Munich for insulting Baron von Thun, deputy commissioner of the Spa at Kissingen.

These journals, the Post charges, are deliberately trying to defeat the ends of justice by their denunciations of the perfectly proper sentence imposed upon Stern. It is a remarkable fact that the American embassy has not yet received any official information in regard to Stern's case.

The Munich papers explain this by declaring that a basis of diplomatic negotiations which would enable Ambassador Ruyon to interfere directly in Stern's behalf is wholly lacking.

Rich in Gold Dust.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6.—Three miles from Milford, in Seward county, an old gravel pit, out of which the Burlington railway has for years been ballasting its tracks, has been found to be rich in gold dust. Sand and gravel from several adjacent farms have given equally rich promises. Many assays have been made, some by Denver assayers and others by Professor Nicholson of the state university. In all of them the yield has been from $50 to $100 to the ton. There is great excitement in the vicinity of the reported find, and is rising in value and speculation is active.
